We do not have such a map. Both our visitor's map and our Cartifact map are available as print versions only. The maps on the website may be helpful, but they are not particularly well "curated" (meaning that Museums & Galleries Map has ALL the Museums and Galleries, not just the major highlights)

I would recommend you direct him to the EXPLORE section of our website. There are various highlighted amenities that should be helpful.

Hi guys,

Craig Whaley is organizing a huge group of people who are coming for the Rose Bowl. They are buying out four hotels in DTLA. He was wondering if we had a digital version of a map we could supply him with that has all of the shops and buildings in DTLA. I directed him to our website, but it looks like we don't really have a map on there with all of that information. What do you think?

Amy
